chant is whispered in dread from lip to lip:

"Mabu is coming! Mabu arises to conquer the world!"

The old bag lady, pushing her meager worldly belongings in a broken-down cart, cannot help hearing these strange words again and again. Her bent frame straightens imperceptibly and her heartbeat pounds in her ears. She must find out more!

In the next few weeks, from the ravings of drunkards and slurrings of the down-trodden, she manages to piece together a picture beyond belief. Mabu is the leader of the mysterious Evil Society, whose charter is nothing short of world domination. Mabu himself is quite inhuman, an alien with supernatural powers. And his plans for the conquest of Earth are soon to be set in motion. Though the rest of her information seems jumbled, one piece proved invaluably concrete: The location of the entrance to the conspirators' underground lair.

With surprisingly youthful fingers, she reaches into her trash and pulls out a piece of hardware which no bag lady should own: a miniaturized radio transponder. Speaking into the mouthpiece, she begins, "Agent Leila to Rolling Thunder..."

As she continues with her report, her training fails her. She does not see the shadowy figures that silently approach her.

Nor does she feel the blow that crashes her world into darkness...
INTRODUCTION
Rolling Thunder: The name of the powerful international secret police organization.
You: Its best agent.

Your mission: Infiltrate the underground headquarters of the Evil Society, save agent Leila and smash the deadly plot to conquer the world by defeating Mabu, the alien leader.

Start out the game at the enemy's entry passageway armed only with a single-fire handgun and limited ammunition. Blow away hooded thugs as you move forward. The sinister fortress has countless doors, some marked "Bullets" and "Arms." Enter the former to replenish your ammunition and the latter to get powerful, multiple-firing machine guns.

Since Leila can't last forever against the ruthless treatment of her captors, move fast. You only have a limited amount of time to succeed in your mission. By entering some doors (which are unmarked), you can get more time.

You'll move through different passageways in ruined buildings, warehouses, caves, lava fields and command centers. The deeper you penetrate, the deadlier the enemy becomes.

Clear ten areas and you'll earn the chance to confront Mabu in a showdown to the death.

Note: You can select "Continue" up to 3 times only. After that, it’s back to the beginning, unless you’ve got the password. See below.

SPECIAL DOORS

■ Bullet
You start out the game with 50 bullets in your handgun. Add ammunition by entering doors marked “Bullet.” Note: Bullets inside doors are for your handgun only. There is no replenishment of machine gun ammunition.

Here's how to replenish bullets and get machine guns:

Stand before a door, press the top of the Control Pad and enter. When bullets are replenished, you exit automatically. If you continue to hold the button down, you’ll stay hidden behind the door — which is helpful if enemy forces lurk immediately outside. To exit immediately, press the bottom of the Control Pad.

■ Arms
Inside these doors are machine guns. When held, machine guns fire automatically. When the number of bullets reaches zero, kiss your machine gun goodbye. Also, lose a life and loose your machine gun.

■ Unmarked
Check unmarked doors — there is extra time hidden behind some of them.
THREE LIVES AND YOU'RE OUT

You start out the game with three lives. When you’ve lost all of them, the game is over.

Ways to loose a life:
1. When your Life Gauge hits zero (Life Gauge is reduced by 1 each time you are touched by an enemy).
2. When you fall into a lava field, or in a place where there is no floor.
3. When you are hit by a bullet, bomb or beam.
4. When you can’t clear an area within the allotted time.

When you clear an area, your Life Gauge goes back to full and, if your handgun has less than 50 bullets, it is replenished (back up to 50). If your handgun has more than 50 bullets, it will stay the same. The maximum number of bullets (handgun or machine gun) is 300 each.
MEMBERS OF THE EVIL SOCIETY

Mabu
The leader of the Evil Society. An alien with supernatural powers, he lurks in the depths of the secret fortress.

Hooded Thug
Hooded thugs come in different colors. Their strengths and method of attack change with their colors.

Ninja
An elusive enemy who suddenly appears from walls. Be careful!

Breaker
An ape-man who jumps and pounces.

Geruzo
A bat with a human face. When approached, he takes flight.

Flamer
When hit 2 times, he breaks into four and attacks.
HINTS

1. For enemies that have to be hit twice before they are killed, crouch for the second shot. When the enemy is shot once, he drops down. By crouching, you'll shoot low enough to hit him again.

2. Use a "gun shield": First shoot, then "chase" the bullet so it doesn't disappear from the screen. This way, the bullet will hit an enemy as soon as he appears.

3. Check unmarked doors for hidden extra time.
